Over 150 abstracts from close to 20 countries were submitted to eight subcategories and the best ones will be presented during the congress. All others will be displayed as posters and are available for discussion with the attending authors during congress hours.

Submitted case studies will be presented and discussed during the Retinamour session, where unusual cases will be discussed by the chair and questions answered by the panel. The ESASO Style Debates will highlight controversial standpoints on important topics. Opponents share their presentations, present and substantiate their preferred treatment for 10 minutes, and challenge each other together with a vivid audience.

Active Learning
ESASO is also introducing a new concept of active learning. Each session will start and end with test questions, which will allow an immediate evaluation of the individual learning curve. ESASO’s scientific committee believes that this new concept underpins its objective to actively address unmet training needs and learning outcomes of its delegates. ESASO Retina Academies have excellent scientific and clinical presentations, but another feature is the collegial spirit and friendly atmosphere. The innovative educational formats are varied and tailor-made to give the best possible learning and social experience.
